--It is not often that we see as many farmers in town in one day as were here on salesday, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather.

-The farmers of the county inform us that unless the rains cease, they will have considerable difficulty in saving all of their crops from the grass.

-We learn from the Charlotte Observer that night passenger trains will be put on the South Carolina Division of the Richmond & Danville Railroad on the 1st July. .

-If the favorable weather of the bright. past few days continues during the week, the greater part of the grain will be harvested. The spring crop will be better than was first expected, as the recent rains brought it out wonderfully.

-What has become of our new railroad? We have heard nothing of it lately. Only one township meeting has been held in the county. Other towns are wide awake on the subject, and Fairfield should not let her present opportunity slip.

-We hear some complaint on account of the high rate of premium which our people have to pay for insurance. When only a few years ago 1½ per cent. was charged, now 4½ per cent. is charged. The companies seem determined to make the small towns pay their losses in large cities.
